Heaven in the Hamptons

Bet you thought summer would never come! Even I, the eternal optimist, had doubts. But it's here, and it's time to get thee to the Hamptons, our own local summer resort. And a number of retailers and eateries, new and old, also are spending their summers by the sea.

ABOUT THE HAMPTONS

Of course, "The Hamptons" include a number of towns and villages, some of which are divisions of each other. The town of Southampton 18 hamlets and 7 incorporated villages – and distinct shopping and dining districts. The Town of East Hampton, literally to the east of Southampton, has almost 70 miles of waterfront on three sides (the Atlantic Ocean to the east and south, and Gardiner's Bay to the north), and includes Montauk, Amagansett and Wainscott. An interesting development in the last year or so is the growing interest just a bit west of the traditional divider of "The Hamptons" – the Shinnecock Canal. More homeowners are buying in areas including Hampton Bays and Quogue – so expect retail to flourish there in years to come.

Down the road, visit Westlake Fish House at 352 West Lake Drive. Harlow East comes from Richie Notar with fresh fish and local produce at Long Wharf in Sag Harbor. Or look for Italian food at Doppio East, 126 Main Street IN Sag Harbor.

STAY AT THE HAMPTONS

Book early for a taste of history at the 1708 House (126 Main Street, Southampton), which really does date from 1708! Even older, despite its name is the 1770 House at 143 Main Street in East Hampton, which was a private home when it was built in 1663. The Maidstone (207 Main Street, Southampton) is comparatively brand new, dating from 1840. Families should head to Hartman's Briney Breezes Motel (693 Old Montauk Highway, Montauk, NY) or the pet-friendly Maison Blanche (11 Stearns Point, Shelter Island). The Montauk Yacht Club (32 Star Island Road, Montauk), Southampton Inn (91 Hill Street, Water Mill) and Surf Lodge (183 South Edgemere Street, Montauk) remain classic. And always, always consider a stay at Gurney's Inn Resort and Spa, 290 Old Montauk Highway in Montauk.

Happy Summer and Happy Shopping!
